Rail stations set for major investment

• Didcot Parkway rail station

PROPOSALS that would see Didcot and Oxford rail stations undergo major improvements are set to be discussed by Oxfordshire County Council.

The ideas would see extra passenger capacity provided between Oxford and Didcot, new rail services from Oxfordshire to Heathrow Airport and major upgrades to both the city's main Oxford station and Didcot Parkway.

By George Welch

Members of the county council's cabinet will be asked to approve a new rail strategy at its meeting on June 28.

The scheme is part of the recent Hendy Review of Network Rail's plan to undertake the biggest modernisation of the rail service since the Victorian era.

The review concludes that the vast majority of programmes and projects nationwide will start by 2019.

Robots 'best option' to demolish power station

By George Welch

WHAT is still standing of Didcot A Power Station's main building is to be blown down in an attempt to retrieve the bodies of three missing men, site owners confirmed on Tuesday.

RWE Npower want to use robots to place demolition charges at the base of the structure.

A date for when this might be done has not yet been set.

Plan B involves using people to place the demolition charges, but they warned this would be a bigger threat to human life.

The two options will be tested in an unused quarry to ensure the building comes down properly in the right direction – so that it falls away from the existing rubble.

RWE Npower called both plans 'highly complex and time-consuming'.

About half of Didcot A Power Station's boiler house collapsed on February 23 killing four men working to demolish the building.

The body of 53-year-old Mick Collings, from North Yorkshire, was found the same day.

But the bodies of Ken Cresswell, 57, and John Shaw, 61, both from Rotherham, and Christopher Huxtable, 34, from Swansea, remain in the rubble.

An Npower statement said: "Our priority remains the recovery of the missing men and we are doing everything that is within our power to ensure it is progressed as fast and safely as possible."

A lawyer representing the widows of Mr Cresswell and Mr Shaw has criticised the length of time it has taken to begin the recovery process.

Keith Cundall said: "While the proposed plan of action for recovering Ken and John has been welcomed by the families we are supporting, there is yet to be a clear indication of when this will take place.

"The lives of the families we represent have been changed forever by the delays in recovering their loved ones and the current situation continues to cause them an unbelievable amount of distress.

"They want their husbands recovered as quickly and carefully as possible as they are currently living under a cloud of uncertainty that has been in place for more than four months.

"We believe RWE Npower should provide the families with a definite timetable for the next phase of the operation."

Somerville College denies rumours of Lady Thatcher statue

AN Oxford University college has rejected rumours that they are planning to erect a larger than life bronze statue of Lady Thatcher on their grounds.

Reports emerged on Tuesday that a £300,000 statue of the former prime minister intended for Parliament Square was to be relocated to Somerville College.

However the college told the Guardian yesterday they have no plans to put up a statue of Lady Thatcher, who graduated from the college in 1947 with a second-class honours chemistry degree.

Principal of Somerville, Alice Prochaska, said they had not heard anything about the statue until the reports arose, and added: "We would struggle to find a suitable space for a statue of the size described."

Lady Thatcher died in April 2013. The artwork was sculpted to be installed alongside other former prime ministers such as Winston Churchill and David Lloyd George outside the Houses of Parliament.

But opposition – in particular from one of the Baroness' twin children – meant the plans were aborted. It was reported Carol Thatcher, 62, was against the statue partly because it didn't include her iconic handbag.

Former Henley MP and Mayor of London Boris Johnson, who was the first to push for a Margaret Thatcher statue in 2013, refused to permit the statue be put in place without her family's permission.

The 10ft bronze baroness, completed in 2015 by sculptor Douglas Jennings, could be found another home but it continues to collect dust in a secret storage facility.

Somerville voted in 1985 to refuse the then prime minister an honorary degree, in protest against her cuts in funding for education.

The college is already home to many memorials to Lady Thatcher including a bronze bust by Oscar Nemon bust, and a portrait by Michael Noakes that Lady Thatcher unveiled at Somerville in 2005.

Superhero fans flock to inaugural event in Didcot

Comic Con proves success

• Deadpool with his gadgets

By George Welch

WONDERWOMAN, Star Wars stormtroopers and Deadpool were all present as Didcot hosted its inaugural Comic Con event.

The festival celebrating all things comic book was hosted at Didcot Civic Hall on Saturday as hundreds of superhero fans flocked to enjoy the occasion.

Special guests included Lightning McQueen (Disney's 'Cars'), John Levene (John Benton in classic Dr Who) and cosplayers Kitty Brooker, Lady Venom and DLS Cosplay.

The event attracted about 600 people and had at least 40 stalls and panels featuring various comic book themes.

Twenty per cent of the profits from the day - £1,000 - has been donated to the Fund for Children, which supports Oxford Children's Hospital.

The local Scouts raised money for their own group by providing catering.

Comic Con Didcot was an idea developed by comic book fans Nicole Wilson and Chris Wickham since last December.

Miss Wilson said: "Didcot Comic Con was definitely a success –it was busier than anyone expected.

"The atmosphere and everyone's love for the event made all the hard work worthwhile."

Oxford's successful sell-out debut comic book convention attracted 2,000 people in March, suggesting Oxfordshire has a growing interest in superheroes and cosplay.

Miss Wilson agreed with that thought, saying: "It's a great thing – there has been a need for a local con for a while now."

Mr Wickham, of Advance Comix in Wantage, said: "Having recently opened a business in Wantage, I have experienced the local demand for comics and all that surround them.

"I knew my business would be popular but I had no idea there were so many fellow geeks around!

"A comic con is a great chance for everyone to come together and celebrate this popular culture."

One superhero enthusiast took to social media to say: "Loved it! It was the best day and I loved the people there."

Comic Con, the world's largest annual four-day festival of comic books, games, arts and movies, originated in San Diego in 1970.

Rail boost is proposed

The proposals also tie in with 'Connecting Oxfordshire', the county council's Local Transport Plan. Improved transport links in Oxfordshire are seen as imperative, with the region expected to create 85,000 jobs and gain 100,000 new homes up to 2031.

The council would like to see extra platforms, new station buildings, multi-storey car parks and the extension of train lines. The proposals also include increased passenger and freight capacity between Didcot and Oxford, as well as the opportunity for an expansion of Culham station. There could also be a new station in the Grove/Wantage area.

County council leader Ian Hudspeth said: "Clearly the council does not have direct responsibility for the rail industry, but we do have a responsibility to strongly stand up for Oxfordshire when it comes to getting our share of national finances to deliver local improvements. Obviously the railways interact very closely with every other form of transport in Oxfordshire and our joint partnership working with the rail industry is crucial to seeing through positive change that will benefit us for decades to come.

"We want to ensure that our county speaks with one strong strategic voice for the whole of Oxfordshire, not just small parts of it, seeking to make sure improvements in rail and other transport modes are synchronised and linked."

GWR regional development manager Tom Pierpoint said: "We at GWR recognise the importance of rail to the economic prosperity of the communities we serve, and it is great to see the county council share that vision."

Plea for NHS to modernise as £180bn black hole fears rise

By George Welch

HEALTH bosses have warned of a £180m black hole by 2020, increasing calls for Oxfordshire's NHS to "modernise".

The chairman of the county's Clinical Commissioning Group said the local Oxfordshire NHS needed to become more efficient by 2020 in response to rising demand.

Dr Joe McManners said: "If we keep on spending the way we are and keep on admitting as many people to hospital, the system will not be sustainable.

"We need to use our resources in a different way and support people in their communities and their homes.

"That means we do not have to keep opening more and more wards."

More cash needs to be saved by prevention measures and encouraging more people to go to community hospitals and GPs, instead of walking into accident and emergency departments.

But this comes at a time when residents are fighting to save community hospitals.

The health bosses warn that patients face increased waiting times if Oxfordshire NHS cannot save enough.

Dr McManners told the BBC the county's NHS needed to save £176m over four years, or health providers "would have to start prioritising what treatments are available".

The targets and figures quoted are in response to the rate of expansion expected across Oxfordshire over the coming decades.

An Oxfordshire Transformation Board was established last year between NHS trusts, GP federations, and Oxfordshire County Council with the aim of driving forward the transformation of the health and social care system in Oxfordshire.

Moving forward, it is intended that a system more focused on care at home and in the community will be developed.

Areas being reviewed to find savings include emergency care, maternity services, children's services, diagnostics and specialist care, mental health, learning disabilities and autism.

A public consultation into the savings will be launched in the autumn, which will include a series of meetings and drop-in events. Damon Palmer, director of transformation at Oxfordshire Clinical Commissioning Group, said the move was not about cuts, but about making the CCG "think about how we can be smarter".

He also pointed out that the scene was similar across the country - by 2021, England's NHS is expected to have a £30bn funding gap.

Grandad finishes charity trek

A WANTAGE grandad who weighed 26 stone just over a year ago has completed an 87-mile trek for charity.

Cameron McCulloch, 48, lost 10 stone following weight loss surgery in March last year, inspiring him to walk the Ridgeway in a week to raise awareness for healthy living.

He completed the walk in six days, having started at Ivinghoe Beacon on Sunday, June 12, and finishing on Friday at Overton Hill in Avebury.

The former King Alfred's Academy student has a target of £2,500 and so far has raised around £1,600. He is confident of reaching his target, but said he would be "happy" if he achieved £2,000.

• Cameron McCulloch at his finishing point, Overton Hill

The money raised is for Eynsham-based charity HENRY (Health, Exercise and Nutrition in the Really Young) and will contribute to research and raising awareness of healthier lifestyles and eating.

His motive was to repay the care of the bariatric team at the Churchill Hospital, Oxford.

Mr McCulloch did not find the going easy, saying: "Every day was hard. It was a bit soul-destroying."

His dog, Archie, was due to accompany him on the trek but it was decided the route was too far for the 11-year-old.

He said: "As much as I would have loved to have taken Archie and as much as I know he would have enjoyed it, it would have just finished him off."

Archie did, however, walk with his owner on the final day, completing the home stretch of four miles.

Didcot teenager to be given award for Secret Santa Christmas appeal

By Dominic Thomas

AN 18-year-old from Didcot is set to be honoured with a prestigious award at Westminster next month for her Secret Santa campaign.

Courtney Hughes, who delivered 4,000 presents to a variety of Oxfordshire charities last Christmas, is to be given a British Citizen Award for her efforts.

The Great Western Drive resident, who has been delivering the gifts for four years, and a team of volunteers wrapped each present before delivering them to hospital patients and elderly and homeless people.

Of last Christmas' campaign, the former Didcot Girls' School pupil said: "It went amazingly well, it was the biggest year yet. Plus the appeal was able to help hundreds of extra people including a homeless charity and local refuges.

"The wrapping party was brilliant too. We had lots of people from Didcot come and help wrap the gifts. I couldn't have done it without them."

Speaking of her award, the nursing assistant at Sobell House hospice in Oxford, said: "I found out in April that I had been nominated. I thought that was amazing in itself, but I didn't think I would be awarded it.

"It was actually a fantastic feeling. Knowing that people feel so strongly about Secret Santa is such as positive thing.

"Knowing that it's been able to help so many people is wonderful."

Courtney is to be presented with her award at a ceremony at Westminster Palace in London on Thursday, July 7.

Her campaign sees presents donated by the community and companies. Last year, they were delivered to Helen and Douglas House hospice in Oxford, Sobell House, the Special Care Baby Unit at Oxford's John Radcliffe Hospital, The Meadows care home in Didcot and other venues.

Courtney started the event in memory of her grandmother who died in 2013.

Preparations for 2016 are already under way and a venue has been booked for this year's wrapping session in December.

She added: "This year my little sister Megan, 11, will be helping out more, particularly when I'm at work. She is Santa's Little Helper.

"I also have the Marlborough Club booked for the wrapping party at the beginning of December, so if people would like to help out then please do.

"I also have a few ideas for some new events, hopefully in the late summer or autumn, so watch this space!"

MP joins police officers on beat

POLICE officers in Henley were joined on their usual Friday patrols by local MP John Howell.

The Conservative MP, who has served the constituency since 2008, spent the evening with police in the Henley and South Oxfordshire area on Friday night.

He went on two shifts of police work throughout the course of the evening, including a car patrol of the area and a call-out to an incident on the Gainsborough estate in Henley.

He then joined officers in their van in attending an incident in Wallingford's town centre, before being taken on a late-night round of Henley's local pubs including The Catherine Wheel and Magoos to check on licensing arrangements.

The MP, who took over the seat from former London mayor Boris Johnson, said of his experience: "This was an exciting and fascinating glimpse into the work of the police.

"I was included in the briefing for the whole of southern Oxfordshire and was very pleased to be able to attend incidents. I shall certainly undertake another tour."

He also paid tribute to the officers, saying: "I saw a lot of the work the police do in order to keep us safe and I was very impressed with the professionalism the officers I was with showed. My thanks to the officers who made me feel very welcome and shared insights into their work."

If your double glazing has misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 25 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Whilst a number of tradespeople perhaps don't focus on customer care as much as they should do, we make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle.

Locally Cloudy2Clear service the Oxfordshire area from their local depots and manager James Miller agrees that this approach is a major factor in his success. 'The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated as both my customers and, obviously a body as nationally important as Which? now recognise.'

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give James a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

Bus service for town is saved

A BANBURY bus service due to be scrapped after Oxfordshire County Council (OCC) removed its subsidy will now continue.

Abingdon-based Go Ride has stepped in to run the B1 Easington service for a trial period.

It will operate the new B1 service to the same stops, with only a slightly reduced timetable from Monday to Friday until further notice.

The council had previously announced the service, currently run by Stagecoach, would end in July.

Town, district and county councillor Kieron Mallon welcomed the move, but warned people must use the service to ensure it was a success.

He said: "It's good news and an example of taking the initiative to deliver a positive result despite adversity.

"We hope it will be a success, many of my constituents in Easington do not have an alternative to access the town or its services and I thank Go Ride for realising the potential of the B1."

The county council withdrew subsidies on 118 bus routes across Oxfordshire.

OCC's cabinet member, David Nimmo Smith, said: "This is welcome news to add to the large number of bus services that have already been saved despite cuts."

Anger as convoy is turned away

By Dominic Thomas

MORE than 20 people from Oxford attempting to take aid to refugees at Calais on Saturday were turned away at the port of Dover.

They made up part of a convoy of 250 vehicles and more than 1,000 people wanting to make the Channel crossing.

The convoy, planned some months ago by several groups including unions Unison and Unite and activist groups Stand Up To Racism, The People's Assembly and the Muslim Association of Britain, was issued a last-minute ban by the French authorities late on Thursday night over security concerns.

The convoy travelled to Whitehall on Saturday morning to protest against the ban before heading to Dover, where only one aid lorry was allowed through and the rest were turned away.

Pat Cormody, who organised the Oxford convoy, said: "When we got to the services 50 miles from the port, we started seeing police taking people's registration details, so we realised that something was going on and that had been some collusion with the French police.

• The convoy is held up at the ferry entrance at Dover

"We got to the port where they had us in different lanes and then there were negotiations with the police.

"We decided that we would stand in front of the other vehicles, blocking them."

He expressed his frustration at the authorities' decision to ban the convoy: "If you're a football hooligan, you could have got over. If you're going there to drink a few lagers, then that was fine, but we couldn't because we had aid."

After two hours of protest and negotiation at the port, the lorry carrying 38 tonnes of aid and two cars were allowed through.

The remaining protesters and their aid, including the Oxfordshire convoy, then returned to London to protest outside the French Embassy.

Mr Cormody said: "People were angry at the fact that we did not get through so we went to protest.

"It was a very good protest and we left a token amount of aid there to say to the French authorities that they can take it over there."

Mr Cormody said the group would continue to collect and deliver the remaining aid: "We have been overwhelmed by the support of people in Oxfordshire and we have been inundated with aid. The room we're using at the moment is brimming.

"The people that went obviously still want to go and deliver the aid. We will be having meetings next week."

He also paid tribute to the support he had seen for refugees at the border: "When we got to Kent, there were flags and banners saying 'refugees welcome' along the road and on the roundabouts. It was a brilliant response.

"It was very much against the narrative of the mainstream media that we see that people are afraid of immigration.

"I think most people in Britain would welcome those who are fleeing for their lives and would be happy for them to come here."

In mourning for Jo Cox MP

By Katriona Ormiston

THE husband and former colleagues at the Oxford charity where murdered MP Jo Cox worked have paid tribute to the "ball of energy" who campaigned tirelessly for social justice.

The Labour MP was killed last Thursday after being shot and stabbed in Birstall near Leeds, within her own constituency of Batley and Spen in West Yorkshire.

She was attacked outside her constituency surgery. Thomas Mair, 52, of Birstall, appeared at Westminster Magistrates' Court on Saturday charged with her murder.

Mrs Cox, a 41-year-old mum to two young children, met her husband Brendan while working for Cowley-based Oxfam.

In a statement he urged people to "unite against the hatred that killed her".

He added: "Jo believed in a better world and she fought for it every day of her life with an energy, and a zest for life that would exhaust most people."

A crowd of more than 100 people gathered in Oxford's Radcliffe Square for a vigil in her name on Saturday night.

Oxford East MP Andrew Smith laid flowers.

Max Lawson, who worked with her at Oxfam, said: "Jo was a diminutive pocket rocket from the north. She was as a ball of energy, always smiling, full of new ideas, of idealism, of passion. She gave so much to Oxfam."

She worked for Oxfam and Oxfam International between 2001 and 2009 in a variety of roles.

As head of Oxfam's Brussels office she spearheaded Oxfam's campaign for trade reform. In 2005 she joined Oxfam GB as head of advocacy.

Mrs Cox was a passionate advocate on humanitarian issues including the conflicts in Darfur and the Democratic Republic of Congo.

She became head of humanitarian campaigns for Oxfam International in New York in 2007 for two years.

Oxfam GB's chief executive, Mark Goldring, said: "Many of our colleagues remember her fondly. The rest of us followed her work with admiration.

"She never lost her passion for peace, justice and equality."

Her death is believed to be the first murder of an MP for more than 25 years.

Oxfordshire's MPs also paid tribute.

Witney MP and Prime Minister David Cameron said: "This is absolutely tragic and dreadful news and my thoughts are with Jo's husband Brendan, their two children and wider family.

"We've lost a great star."

Wantage MP Ed Vaizey tweeted: "Beyond words. Senseless loss of a mother and great public servant."

Banbury MP Victoria Prentis gained her seat on the same day Mrs Cox did at the parliamentary elections last year.

Cllr Prentis tweeted: "Terribly shocked and saddened to hear the news about Jo Cox MP. My thoughts and prayers are with her family."

EU referendum campaigning was suspended until Saturday as a mark of respect.

New health app for Oxfordshire

A free health app has been launched for Oxfordshire advising people where to get help when they are ill or injured.

The 'Health and Care Oxfordshire' smartphone app has been developed by Oxfordshire Clinical Commissioning Group (CCG) to guide people to the NHS service they need.

It directs them to a pharmacist or a GP, tells them when to call NHS 111 and when to self-manage at home.

The app also has information about sexual health clinics and social care support nearby including from Oxfordshire County Council for those eligible.

It uses global positioning technology to take into account where the person is, and updates the Choose Well app launched by Oxfordshire CCG in 2014.

Dr Merlin Dunlop, a deputy GP lead at Oxfordshire CCG, said: "This is a very effective and easy to use app which helps people to decide which service to use if they are unwell or need treatment – it also shows exactly where each service is located in Oxfordshire."

Details of pharmacies, GP practices, minor injuries and first aid units as well as Accident and Emergency departments in Oxfordshire are listed.

The app is not available for some older devices and can be downloaded online from the usual app stores.

County's military links marked by celebration

By Dominic Thomas

COMMUNITIES around Oxfordshire are preparing for a series of events to celebrate Armed Forces Day this Saturday.

There will be events taking place to celebrate both past and present members of the armed forces, on what used to be known as Veterans' Day throughout the weekend.

The county has a long history of a major military presence, playing host to RAF Benson and RAF Brize Norton, as well as Dalton Barracks, near Abingdon, and Vauxhall Barracks, near Didcot, among others.

The Armed Forces Day celebrations this year include events in Oxford, Witney, Banbury, Carterton and Wantage.

The events were got under way by Lord Mayor of Oxford Mohammed Altaf-Khan with a flag-raising ceremony at the city's Town Hall on Monday.

"I'm honoured that I to be attending the flag raising for the Armed Forces Day," he said.

"I think the day is very important for the city's community and for the country as a whole. I think it's very important that ordinary people are involved alongside members of the military."

He added: "I think it's very important to know about what they are doing for general awareness and obviously because they have a very important role.

"We should be proud of them fighting for us and keeping us safe."

Meanwhile, Witney will once again hold its Armed Forces Day Festival over the weekend with stalls and celebrations in the town centre on Saturday, ahead of its festival at the town's rugby club on Sunday.

The main event of the weekend will be a rugby match between Witney and the Armed Forces, followed by a performance from former Status Quo drummer John Coughlan's band, while there will also be music and entertainment throughout the day, including beer tents, military trucks and bouncy castles.

Witney's Festival organiser Luke Walker said: "It's of huge importance that people integrate into the community and support each other, our local businesses and our high streets.

"Our children are in school with, and grow up with, children from military families so it's important that we integrate and that's exactly what Armed Forces Day is doing."

Nearby Carterton will also hold its own Fake festival at Carterton Community College, hosting a variety of tribute bands, throughout the day until 11pm.

There will also be plenty of other entertainment throughout the day with live music from performers and fun activities.

Town mayor Lynn Little said: "RAF Brize Norton has been here in Carterton since the mid-1930s, it has quite a bit of history in the town.

"We are very aware that we need to integrate and support each other, and I think that has definitely happened, especially since the RAF was granted the Freedom of Carterton in April."

There will also be more events in Banbury, which will host an Armed Forces Day tattoo, with military demonstrations and outdoor activities, as well as a fly-past at Spiceball Park.

The Army Reserves will stage a battle scene and Sea Cadets hope to stage a gun run.

Meanwhile, there will be a 1940s-style charity barbeque at the King Alfred's Head pub in Wantage to raise money for the Poppy Appeal.

A snapshot of Oxfordshire's history in 50 special objects

By Samantha McGregor

A HUMAN spine with an arrow embedded in it and Anglo-Saxon jewellery are among 50 of the county's most intriguing historical objects making up a special exhibition.

To mark the 50th anniversary of Oxfordshire Museums Service, the 'Oxfordshire in 50 Objects' exhibition has opened at the Oxfordshire Museum, in Woodstock.

The items were specially selected by 25 different community groups and current and former museum employees.

The artefacts span thousands of years of local history, and also include traditional costumes and a clock gun as well as Bronze Age and Neolithic items.

Oxfordshire County Council's cabinet member for cultural services, Lorraine Lindsay-Gale, said: "The service has evolved over the years in response to different challenges, but what hasn't changed is the dedication of staff to bringing Oxfordshire's past to life and promoting engagement in, and understanding of, the county's heritage.

"This is a really fitting way to mark the 50th anniversary, and the involvement of Oxfordshire communities in shaping the exhibition underlines the role the county's residents have played in sustaining the service over the decades. It demonstrates the fact that the service has always depended on the interest, support and pride of local people."

• The human spine

The majority of more than 100,000 archaeological and social history items are stored at the Museums Resource Centre at Standlake.

Over the past five decades the museum service has also recovered and repaired scores of items found across the county.

The display will be on show throughout the summer and entry is free.

• Father and daughter celebrate Father's Day in memorable style

Taking the plunge!

ONE Oxfordshire dad had a very memorable Father's Day when father and daughter abseiled side by side down the side of Oxford's John Radcliffe Hospital.

Together, Iain Belton and his daughter Phillida Futter, raised more than £1,000 for the surgical unit appeal at the nearby Churchill Hospital in Headington.

The cause is close to both their hearts after Mr Belton was diagnosed with cancer of the tonsil, throat, back of the tongue and two lymph nodes in the neck.

He underwent treatment at the Churchill and has since been given the all-clear.

Mr Belton wanted to complete the abseil to give something back for the "incredible" care that he received at the hospital.

Afterwards, Mr Belton said: "My daughter was really nervous and I am incredibly proud that she managed to get down.

"I've done abseiling before, but it is a bit different off a building, but once I got going I really enjoyed it. We went down side by side so I could keep encouraging Philly and I'm so glad we did it."

Sarah Vaccari, of Oxford Radcliffe Hospitals Charitable Funds, said: "They were both brilliant and had everyone cheering them on all the way down.

"It's been such as special day with over 120 people abseiling for our hospital causes – and, to us, they are all heroes.

"We reckon the event should raise over £20,000 which will help us fund additional specialist medical equipment and create better environments for our patients."

Developer of West Way planning to build 'soon'

By Dominic Thomas

DEVELOPERS rebuilding Botley's West Way shopping precinct have said they plan to start work 'soon', after planning permission was granted last week.

Vale of White Horse District Council's planning committee approved Mace's plans for the new retail centre by eight votes to three following more than three hours of debate last Wednesday night.

The designs include 140 new homes, 262 student rooms, a 122-bed Premier Inn, 321 parking spaces, a new Co-op store, and a new community centre comprising of a Baptist church and library.

Mace development director Huw Griffiths: "We are thrilled to be able to move ahead with our plans to provide Botley with the new shopping centre it needs."

He added: "We look forward to starting demolition and construction soon."

However, campaigners and councillors have said they are shocked and disappointed the proposal was approved.

The plans do not include affordable housing, a stipulation in the council's policy, but Mace agreed to contribute £2 million towards affordable homes to the council instead.

Vale councillor for Botley, Debby Hallett, said: "I'm disappointed that the committee agreed to a scheme so risky and expensive that there is no money left for affordable housing.

"I think the £2m Mace has contributed should absolutely be used in Botley and I was shocked that they agreed to that. The community that feels the pain should be the ones that get some compensation."

The decision follows four years of discussions over the site, including a much larger scale rejected plan by developers Doric in 2014.

Co-chairman of West Way Community Concern group, Caroline Potter, said: "To say we're disappointed would be a really big understatement.

"We felt like we'd got our concern across but the council just went ahead and approved it anyway.

"We were frankly stunned that the committee would forgo its policy on affordable housing for this development."

Vale councillor for Botley, Emily Smith, said she was confused about not seeing the £2m ring-fenced for Botley but also stressed the positives in the result.

She added: "It has been a really long journey and there's a lot of people feeling quite disappointed about the outcome.

"I was disappointed, but they seem like a decent company and I've already touched base with them this morning. I'm willing to make the best of it and make sure that the scheme works as well as it can."

Drivers caught

OXFORD: A five-day safety crackdown run by the Thames Valley Police and Hampshire Constabulary caught almost 200 drivers.

In total, 187 people were caught by police, including one driver who was committing an 'indecent act' while driving on the M40.

Most of those were found to be using a mobile phone at the wheel.

Another driver was caught reading a novel as he drove on the M271 near Southampton.

New forest to be planted on fields

A NEW forest is to be created with 7,500 trees planted between Didcot and Wallingford.

Fields around Sylva Wood Centre by Long Wittenham (pictured) will be transformed with a mixture of native and exotic trees to become part of a community orchard.

The Sylva Foundation charity is bidding for funding from environmental body Wren to plant the Sylva Future Forest. Each tree costs £1.50 to plant.

Chief executive of the Sylva Foundation, Gabriel Hemery, said: "The woodland will provide valuable new local amenity space for all residents both young and old to enjoy.

"The forest project will be of interest to many people in the community."

Once planted, maintenance will be funded through a Friends scheme, where people sponsor a plot of land to ensure its upkeep.

The project has the support of Long Wittenham Parish Council and planting is expected to start this winter. The woodland will be on the site of a derelict former research farm.

It comes as official figures released by the Forestry Commission reveal tree planting in the UK is at an all time low.

Report confirms plans for new park and rides

A REPORT has revealed £85 million plans to build five new park and ride sites outside Oxford as part of an Oxfordshire County Council (OCC) transport shake-up.

The proposed sites at Cumnor, Lodge Hill near Abingdon, Sandford, Eynsham and Oxford Airport could be built over the next 15 years.

The move is part of the Oxford Transport Strategy (OTS) published last week, which is being considered to cope with growth.

OCC cabinet member for environment and the economy, David Nimmo Smith, said: "Oxford opened the world's first park and ride in the 1970s and the demand for better and more innovative transport solutions has been growing ever since.

"Long term solutions are needed so that the transport system meets the demands of the future.

"Of course this is only a technical study – a starting point for developing plans and proposals. No decisions have been taken."

OCC says development in Oxfordshire is expected to create 85,000 new jobs and 100,000 new homes up to 2031.

Plans for a park and ride at Eynsham were included in an OCC meeting approving upgrades to the A40 linking Witney to Oxford last month.

By George Welch

The site is to be built alongside extra bus lanes into the city.

Oxfordshire's Green Party county councillors banded together on Tuesday to oppose the plans on Oxford Green Belt.

Party leader David Williams said: "The existing park and rides, perhaps with double ramping and extensions, can easily cope with the expected real increases in demand all at a fraction of the cost of buying and building five new massive park and rides."

The current park and rides at Seacourt, Redbridge, Peartree, Water Eaton and Thornhill, could be closed.

OCC said the sites would be dealt individually as part of the planning process, with full public consultations.

Apprentices win

ABINGDON: Nine apprentices from UK Atomic Energy Authority in Oxfordshire have been named the country's apprentice team of the year.

The team from Culham Science Centre near Abingdon beat more than 700 other apprentices in 80 teams during a five-month challenge.

Their project involved volunteering with Helen and Douglas House hospice in Oxford and raised £35,000 for the charity.

• The Merlin preparing for its final farewell

Last Merlin leaves county RAF base

THE last Merlin helicopter left RAF Benson near Wallingford last week, completing a two-year handover process from the RAF to the Royal Navy.

The 25-strong fleet, which served the base since 2001, has been transferred to Somerset to join the 846 Naval Air Squadron to replace the navy's Sea King fleet.

Royal Naval Air Station Yeovilton will be the Merlin's new home.

Prince Andrew of York and Prince Michael of Kent were at RAF Benson when the Merlin force was officially transferred in September 2014.

The fleet transported troops, supplies and civilians around the world, including Bosnia, Iraq and Afghanistan.

The last Merlin took off leaving RAF Benson on Thursday.

Group Captain Simon Paterson, RAF Benson's Station Commander, said: "Today [Thursday] was the end of an era as we bid a final farewell to Merlin helicopters after almost 15 years of operating from RAF Benson.

"From a personal point of view as a former OC 28 Squadron it is with some sadness that I watched the final aircraft depart and reflected on the success that the RAF has had with the Merlin."

RAF Benson still flies its two Pumas and also received six Chinook helicopters in the last year from RAF Odiham, Hampshire.

Grass row prompts devolution swipe

By Samantha McGregor

CHERWELL District Council said it will pick up the bill for extra grass cutting across Bicester, Banbury and Kidlington again this year.

Council leader Barry Wood said the decision to pay out an extra £42,839 was worth it to "preserve the appearance and safety of the area".

But he also took a political swipe at an Oxfordshire County Council (OCC) proposal to dissolve the current political structure in Oxfordshire and create one single unitary authority.

Oxford City and the other Oxfordshire district councils want to see single unitary authorities for each district which would provide all services.

In 2015 the county council reduced the number of times it cut grass verges to just two a year.

Cllr Wood said: "Oxfordshire County Council receives 75 per cent of residents' council tax bills to help fund services such as grass cutting.

"However, because it has run out of money, the funding for grass cutting was cut by half, which led to the county only cutting the grass twice a year.

"Not only does this impact on the appearance of our area here in Cherwell, but it also raises safety concerns regarding visibility so we could not stand by and let this happen.

"Although Cherwell is not responsible for this service, we are working in partnership with town and parish councils to make sure the grass is cut in the areas where it has the biggest impact."

In a controversial statement, Mr Wood said the move by the district council to pay for the extra cuts "further demonstrates" Cherwell was better placed to deliver all council services.

He said: "At Cherwell we are in a strong financial position because we have taken proactive steps to reduce our expenditure without impacting on service provision.

"Not only that, we are now providing the services of others who cannot afford to do so themselves.

"This has not happened by accident but it doesn't mean we have an endless pot of money to continue providing the services which others are responsible for.

"By pursuing the proposals for devolution this would give us access to additional funding to enable us to provide all of the services across Cherwell in accordance with the needs of those who live and work here."

But OCC has said it is trying to deal with government cuts which district councils are not subject to, and that they have had to prioritise.

• Barry Wood

OCC's cabinet member for local government, Nick Carter, said: "Safety is our top priority and we continue to cut grass to maintain clear sightlines at junctions.

"We would like to do more, but the county council has had to make savings on a huge scale because unlike districts, government is reducing funding significantly and we have to manage huge increases in demand for services such as social care for adults and children.

"If the districts are ever put in charge of social services they will understand what it means to balance the costs of grass cutting with protecting children from abuse and caring for vulnerable adults who cannot look after themselves."

Roads flooded

THAME: Torrential rain caused chaos in Thame flooding roads across the town centre after storms hit southern England last week.

Flooding was reported in East Street, Aylesbury Road and town centre shops last Wednesday including at the Co-operative supermarket which struggled to keep the water at bay, said Thame Town Council.

Fire and Rescue services were called out to Thame and Bloxham to deliver sandbags and temporary road closures were also in place.

Kirsten Purnell tweeted "Biblical flooding in #Thame never seen anything like it. Avoid Aylesbury Road and Travelodge."

IMS Mortgages tweeted: "A very very very wet Thame! Boat anyone? #thame #highstreet".

Meanwhile, over 300 homes in Oxford and south Oxfordshire were left without power for several hours due to lighting strikes.

Cancer firm HQ

ABINGDON: Two medical companies that creates devices to detect cancer earlier in patients are making Culham Science Centre their new base.

Enhanced Medical has developed technology that helps doctors detect cancers, particularly prostate and liver tumours.

Devices by Active Needle Technology mean that clinicians can target areas better for improved and more accurate biopsies.

Hospice donation marks firm's 50th anniversary

• Staff from Coventry Building Society handing over £1,000 cheque to Katharine House Hospice

STAFF at a Banbury building society have marked its 50th anniversary in the town by raising cash for a charity.

On June 15, 1966, the Coventry Building Society first opened its doors in High Street. It moved to its current site in 1991.

As part of the Coventry's Community programme, each branch supports a local cause and the Banbury branch supports Adderbury based Katharine House Hospice.

The building society has supported the hospice since 2013 and, to mark five decades, staff were invited to the hospice to see some of the work it does.

Afterwards, they presented the hospice with a cheque for £1,000.

Peter Cook, manager at the Coventry's Banbury branch, said: "We're very excited about celebrating our long association with Banbury, where we've provided much-needed banking services and developed really strong relationships with our members and the local community".

Daphne Robertson, of Katharine House Hospice, said the hospice was "appreciative" of the support from the Coventry's Banbury branch team.

She said: "We're delighted to be community partner of the Coventry's Banbury branch, and join in with their 50th anniversary celebrations."

Every year it costs £3.6m to fund the hospice, which only receives 22 per cent in government funding.

Since it opened in 1991, the hospice has cared for more than 9,000 people who need support.

ADVERTORIAL

Why service your car?

Although servicing your vehicle is not a legal requirement, there are a number of good reasons why you should consider getting your car serviced on a regular basis.

Safety

Regular servicing can help to identify potential problems before they become real ones. Servicing will make sure that essential checks are carried out to critical vehicle components such as your braking system and suspension to make sure that these vital parts don't let you down when you need them most.

Regular servicing provides peace of mind that the vehicle is in road-worthy condition.

Just because a car feels ok, it doesn't automatically mean all is working as well as it should be. As the miles clock-up so too does the wear and tear, but because deterioration is often gradual and hidden out of sight, motorists may not see and feel the change. This can lull motorists into a false sense of security, mistakenly believing that all is ok because nothing major has gone wrong with their vehicle.

Save money

Failing to service your vehicle each year to save a few pounds really is a false economy. Regular servicing can help to identify issues early on that could later become costly and expensive to rectify. Take engine oil for example, it's needed to lubricate and protect the moving parts inside your engine. Without it, your engine could seize up costing thousands to repair or replace. All our service schedules include checking the engine oil and, if needed, replacing this with fresh oil specifically designed for your car to keep your engine running smoothly.

Regular servicing can also save motorists money at the petrol pump. New oil and air filters make for a smoother running engine and a more fuel efficient car, while addressing issues such as under inflated tyres will reduce rolling resistance and improve fuel consumption.

Furthermore, not servicing your car increases your chances of suffering a breakdown - which is both costly and inconvenient if you subsequently become reliant on hire cars or public transport whilst your vehicle is fixed.

Longevity

Simply put, regularly servicing your car will undoubtedly improve the life span of the vehicle. Just like your body, the better you treat it – the longer it is likely to last. And with more and more people choosing to hold on to their car for longer – regular servicing is crucial if you are to enjoy many years of trouble-free driving.

Maintaining vehicle value

The second hand market is always competitive, with buyers expecting more for their money. A car with evidence of regular servicing – or even better a full service history - is likely to attract more potential buyers and a higher selling price.

Puzzles

Sudoku

The objective is to fill a 9×9 grid with digits so that each column, each row, and each of the nine 3×3 sub-grids that compose the grid (also called "boxes", "blocks", "regions", or "sub-squares") contains all of the digits from 1 to 9. The puzzle setter provides a partially completed grid, which for a well-posed puzzle has a unique solution.

The Beacon Festival

DESPITE the weather not being the best, hundreds of people gathered in Watlington's Christmas Common to attend this year's Beacon Festival.

Bands and musicians from all over southern England arrived in South Oxfordshire for the festival, which saw rock bands, instrumental groups and country singers perform a number of covers and self-penned tunes on Friday, June 17 and Saturday, June 18.

And as well as music, the festival also had a comedy tent where local comedians could share their gags along with a children's area.

See inside for more.

The Beacon Festival 2016

SUMMER festivities were in full swing at Christmas Common over the weekend.

The third annual Beacon Festival proved you don't have to be one of the UK's big name festivals to pack a musical punch.

The festival in Watlington is one of Oxfordshire's smaller events over festival season.

Musicians from all over the south of England showed off their skills over three stages at the two day festival.

But it also embraced more than just music. A children's area and a comedy tent also provided entertainment.

By James Richings

Acts such as Oxford country singer Nikki Loy, Sonning Common's very own Fabulous Ukulele Club and covers group, The Band with No Name from Thame, entertained an audience of both young and old on Friday, June 17 and Saturday, June 18.

But for me there was one band in particular that stood out.

Aylesbury rock, grunge and alternative band Callow Saints performed tunes off their debut EP, 'Live and Wired', which had the Watlington faithful on their feet.

Lead singer Ruby Lewis said: "We have a fan base that will follow us to any gig and that is a really cool thing to have.

"If you're a band that doesn't have fans, what's the point?

"But when you see new people at your shows dancing, and even singing along sometimes, you just go, 'wow', because it proves that the songs are catchy, which is what we are trying to do.

"We want the songs to stick in their heads and make them think, 'who did that song'? They look us up and that's how we get accidental fans."

Originally a three-piece of Alex Chadwick on drums, Oran Green on bass and guitarist Seb James, the band was joined by Ruby six months later.

They have now been running for two and a half years.

The band's energetic shows and feel good songs have helped them line-up a number of gigs, including a show at Oxford's O2 Academy on July 22.

Another starlet was guitarist Billy Watman. The 15-year-old faced a challenge straight away when he was tasked with stepping up to the Beacon Stage two hours before his scheduled set, after Aylesbury band Run With The Hunt pulled out at the last minute.

Covering well-known tunes by Queen, Billy, believes the impromptu set helped him as a performer.

"This is the third time I've done the Beacon, so when the crowd acts well, it gives you a buzz and adrenaline to help you perform better," he said.

He will be performing at Thame's Towersey Festival in August.

Impressions with Jess

A few years ago, impressionist Jess Robinson was working in an Oxford Street clothes store.

By James Richings

Now her name is alongside the likes of Elton John and Dame Shirley Bassey as she gears up for her first appearance at the Henley Festival.

The 33-year-old comedian takes to the stage on the second day of the Oxfordshire festival, Thursday, July 7.

She arrives with more than 100 different impressions in her locker and is telling her audience to expect a lot of singing and speaking in the space on an hour.

Jess told the Guardian: "If the crowd don't get to see Shirley Bassey, then they can expect me to do a bit of Shirley Bassey instead!

"There will also be classic divas like Julie Garland and Marilyn Monroe along with up to date names such as Beyonce, Iggy Azalea and Nikki Minaj, so there is something for everyone."

But her favourite to recreate is Billie Holiday.

Originally a classically trained singer, Jess admitted a lucky lie helped her break into the entertainment world.

Impressions of her family members, school teachers and friends had always come easily, but making a name from it does not.

"I realized I could do impressions when I was working in a theatre in Hereford," Jess said.

"I heard they had a production of 'Little Voice' coming up so I lied, as I didn't want to go back to my day job.

"I said I could do impressions of the likes of Julie Garland, Marilyn Monroe and Billie Holliday so they asked me to audition, which gave me two weeks to learn everything, and amazingly, I could do it.

"So it was a lucky lie that helped me."

She added: "I think working in the clothes shop was one of the most depressing things I have ever done.

"It was because the stock room was so dark it was like being in a cave.

"You didn't know what time it was, what the weather was like.

"It was just depressing."

Jess will be on the Salon Comedy Club stage at 10.45pm.

The Henley Festival runs from Wednesday, July 6 until Sunday, July 10.

But he's her lobster...

IT'S no Shakespeare, but the relationship of Ross and Rachel of 'Friends' TV fame has got to be one of the best known love stories of today's generations.

By James Richings

'Ross & Rachel' grapples with all the complexities and myths of modern love via a one-woman show at the Old Fire Station in Oxford on Sunday, June 26.

During the duologue Molly Vevers takes on the role of both sides of the story.

Molly told the Guardian: "'Ross & Rachel' uses that famous couple as a springboard to investigate and unpick that idea of the 'perfect couple' that everybody wanted to get together and stay together.

"There are references there if people want to find them, but equally if you've never seen an episode of 'Friends', that's also great.

"It could be any couple, but there's a lot of fun to be had with that title, as straight away it fills the audience in on a back-story of what sort of couple this is."

Written by 2015 Olivier-nominee James Fritz, the play became a hot topic at last year's Edinburgh Fringe Festival when the production received rave reviews from fans and critics.

It questions; which one will leave? Which one will run? Which one is cheating on the other? Which one will die first? Him. Him. Her. Him.

The writing has drawn high praise, but it falls to Molly when the curtains part.

"There is obviously a whole team behind the production who have worked extremely hard to get it all together, but once the lights come up, all the rest lies with me," Molly explained.

"It's daunting but there's also a lot of fun to be had with that as being on your own also gives you a lot of freedom."

The performance at the Old Fire Station in George Street starts at 8.15pm.

It will also be Molly's debut Oxford show.

Tickets cost 10, or £8 for concessions.

'Ross & Rachel' is on a UK tour also stopping in Bristol, London, Canterbury and Salford,

New Peugeot hits showrooms

THE new Peugeot 2008 compact SUV enters UK showrooms next week.

And the carmakers are hailing a timely arrival– when rainfall for June 2016 has already broken all previous June month weather records, having the right car for the UK summer can mean needing one capable of driving in almost any weather condition.

The latest Peugeot 2008 has been updated, re-styled and has superior specification.

They have gone for a more assertive and appealing SUV design, including visual features to give it an enhanced presence; new wheel arch extensions and new vertical front grille and scuff plates confirm its robustness and are designed for everyday use.

The new Ultimate Red colour aims to epitomise the power and desirability of the new 2008.

The Access, Active and Allure option levels are complemented by the new sporty 'GT Line' model.

Peugeot has found this a very popular choice on other key models (108, 208, 308 and 508), and adds a sporty theme throughout.

The Peugeot i-Cockpit is unique to the brand and embodies the driving characteristics of the Peugeot 2008 being agile, intuitive and safe.

The compact sports steering wheel offers precise steering and improved manoeuvrability while the 7" multi-function colour touch screen puts functionality at your fingertips.

In addition, the head-up instrument panel means the driver does not have to take their eyes off the road.

Grip control - an adapted traction system - gives the 2008 its versatility on all types of terrain. It is combined with mud and snow all season tyres.

Peugeot 2008 is also equipped with MirrorScreen, based on Mirror-LinkTM and Apple Carplay, along with the reversing camera, Active City Brake and Park Assist - a rarity in this segment.

The Euro6 engines means an enjoyable ride while remaining fuel efficient.

Peugeot has also said four versions are 'best-in-class' in their segment, including the 1.2L PureTech 130 S&S 6-speed manual.

The 2008 proved popular in 2013 when launched.

The compact SUV is a fast-growing sector, offering versatile capability enhanced by models that feature as standard the accomplished grip control system that set it apart from the competition.

U's to host Chesterfield in League One opener

By George Welch

OXFORD United will kick off their 2016/17 League One campaign at home to Chesterfield on Saturday, August 6.

Michael Appleton's men will also travel to St Andrews in the first round of the EFL Cup – renamed from the Capital One Cup – to take on Championship side Birmingham City.

Oxford chairman Darryl Eales has been a lifetime supporter of City and the game will take place during the week commencing August 8.

The Kassam will be in festive spirit as the U's face home matches on Boxing Day and New Years Eve, when they entertain Northampton Town and Walsall respectively.

Appleton's side conclude the campaign with another home game, against Shrewsbury Town, on Sunday, April 30.

September 10 marks the first derby of the season as local rivals Swindon Town visit the Kassam for the first league derby since 2012.

The sides met last season in the Johnstone's Paint Trophy, with Oxford winning 2-0 in the second round on their way to the final.

Oxford have won the previous five encounters and the return fixture at the County Ground is on February 4.

Oxford United head coach Michael Appleton said: "It's an exciting day for all EFL clubs up and down the country. It makes the realisation come to life that we're in a better division.

"It will be nice to start the season with a home game."

The Johnstone's Paint Trophy finalists earned promotion to League One on the last day of last season with a 3-0 home win against Wycombe.

After finishing second in League Two, the 2016/17 season marks the club's first campaign in League One since 2000/01.

Oxford United fans have also voted to retain the simple ox-head badge that the players wore last season.

The stand-alone ox head was reintroduced last season a to celebrate United's Milk Cup victory 30 years ago.

Smith looks to Holland to put disappointment behind him

BRADLEY Smith heads into his next race in high spirits, despite withdrawing out of his last race in Catalunya, Spain, due to engine problems.

The Monster Yamaha Tech3 team pairing of Smith and Pol Espargaro head to Holland for the eighth round of the 2016 MotoGP season on Sunday, June 26.

The Motul TT Assen race is among the biggest sporting events of the year in Holland. And for the first time, the 26 lap MotoGP race around the 2.822 mile track will be held on a Sunday to further increase the size of the crowds.

Oxford-born Smith said: "The last GP ended in a disappointing way for me, yet, I know that I could have ended the Cataluña race well, so I will remain optimistic.

"It will be the first time that we race there on a Sunday, and it goes without saying that I want to kick off the new schedule with a good performance.

"The circuit is definitely a unique one and it is a track where I have had success over the years, with two podium finishes in the lower classes."

Team manager Herve Poncharal said: "We expect Brad to be right with his teammate and fighting as close as possible to the factory MotoGP bikes.

"He is in the right frame of mind and has now adapted to the new tyres and electronics, even if it has taken him a little longer than some riders."

Smith lies in 12th in the MotoGP World Championship on 29 points, 20 points behind his teammate.

Roofe price tag branded too high for Leeds United

By George Welch

LEEDS United have been put off signing Oxford's Kemar Roofe, deeming the £3 million price as 'excessive'.

Roofe scored or assisted 35 goals in all competitions last season and was voted League Two's player of the year as the U's won promotion to League One.

The Yorkshire Evening Post have reported that Leeds were keen on the 23-year-old but were put off when they were quoted for £3m for a forward who has not played higher than the Football League's basement division.

And this interest cooled further as the Whites look set conclude a £2m deal for Swedish Kalmar FF striker Marcus Antonsson, who's scored 10 goals in 12 games for the Swedish side this season.

Roofe was on a shortlist with Antonsson and Manchester United striker Ashley Fletcher.

The Walsall-born striker scored 26 goals in his first full season at Oxford, helping the club reach League One for the first time since the 2000/01 season and the Johnstone's Paint Trophy.

He is only 12 months into a three year contract at the Kassam Stadium and West Bromwich Albion, where he was a trainee, are due a significant cut of any sale.

Peterborough United chairman Darragh MacAnthony said on Twitter recently that he would value the former West Brom man at "£1.5m plus".

When asked what figure he would place on Roofe, he replied: "As [he's] only done it [in] L2, £1.5 mill plus. If in L1 [he] does it (which he will) then lot more."

And Appleton said last week that if clubs are contemplating offers for any Oxford United's star players then they need to come in sooner rather than later.

Defender Matt Elliott is United's record sale after Leicester City paid £1.6m for his services in 1997.

Appleton is yet to strengthen his side ahead of the new campaign, which starts at home to Danny Wilson's Chesterfield on Saturday, August 6.

But the former Portsmouth, Blackpool and Blackburn boss has also said that "multiple gentleman's agreements" are in place to bring better players to the club.

But the only activity so far has been in the opposite direction, with Danny Hylton rejecting a new contract to join Luton Town.

Sport Bites

Three in a row

FOOTBALL: Oxford United Women will hope to build on the winning streak of their last three games when they travel to Bristol City Women on Saturday night for a 6pm kick off.

They travel to the Stoke Gifford Stadium unbeaten in their last three, having turned around a disappointing start to the season with five losses.

Striker Ini Umotong will be looking to add to her goal tally of 7 goals in 5 games, having also scored last time out against Watford Ladies, as the U's, currently in eighth, will look to climb the table and make the most of their game in hand.

Stars signing

ICE HOCKEY: Oxford City Stars have bolstered their squad with the re-signing of Joe Oliver.

His return to Oxpens will strengthen their defensive line-up ahead of the approaching season, as the Stars look to push for a top four finish again.

Defender Oliver first joined the Oxford squad back in the 2010/11 season.

Coach Simon Anderson said: "It's great to have Joe back in Yellow.

"He goes about his business very quietly and for me is one of the most underrated players in this league. He skates tremendously well, reads the game great and is very cool and calm at our back end."

Lacrosse taster

LACROSSE: Oxford City Lacrosse Club will hold a summer taster day on Monday, June 27, as it announces its first ever junior team.

Those aged between eight and 16 are welcome to come along to the session at 6pm, with a second session for 16 and overs organised from 7.30pm, at Horspath Athletics Ground.

"The taster session is a great chance for anyone to come and try out a new sport, meet some friendly faces, and just have some fun out in the sun," said club captain Amy Scott.

Oxford City Lacrosse Club trains year round at the Horspath ground on Monday nights for men, women and juniors.

Defeat pins Oxford RL to 13th in league

OXFORD RL found themselves on the wrong end of another heavy score last weekend as high-flyers York City Knights continued their push to top the table with a 50 – 6 win.

The Knights' are now second in the league with two games remaining in the regular season, as Oxford remain grounded in 13th of 15.

A lone try from Luke Gardiner was the Blues' only consolation as title challengers York ran in nine tries.

Two debut tries from second-row Adam Robinson and 16 points from Harry Tyson-Wilson helped the Knights to a handsome victory at Iffley Road.

York raced to a 20 – 0 half time lead with Robinson's brace and another from James Morland.

After the break York extended their lead further as flanker Luke Gardiner gifted a try to Austin Buchanan, who collected his attempt to keep the ball in-field.

York stand-off Tyson-Wilson, on loan from Hull, then scored his own debut try after assuming the goal-kicking duties from injured Danny Nicklas, before setting up Adam Dent for the next try.

After two more tries from a dominant York, Gardiner sprinted in to grab the Blues' consolation, with former Knights man Danny Allen adding the extras.

Anderson then scored the Knights' final try before Tyson-Wilson converted to bring the visitors up to the half century mark.

Plato surges back to the podium

TWO podiums helped Oxford racer Jason Plato continue his resurgence in the British Touring Car Championship (BTCC) at Croft on Sunday.

The BMR Racing driver came second in the first two races of the day, before dropping to 10th in the wet conditions in race three.

Race one was fairly straightforward as he followed his teammate Colin Turkington home in a one-two finish.

The second race proved more troublesome, as Plato tagged Turkington while they were fighting for the lead.

This sent both drivers wide, allowing West Surrey Racing driver Rob Collard to slip through and pinch the victory.

And Plato struggled in the drizzle in race three, slipping back from his seventh place starting position to come home 10th and narrowly beat long-time rival Matt Neal.

"It's been a really successful weekend for Silverline Subaru BMR Racing," said Plato.

"We made further progress with the car, and to come away with podiums in races one and two was great.

"Race three was my first in rear-wheel drive in the wet, and it took me a few laps to find my feet and understand the group levels before I properly got into the groove.

"But it was a useful experience and now I know what to expect next time."

Plato is up to 13th in the BTCC standings with 90 points, with the next races at Snetterton on July 31.

All change at Puritans ready for new season

BANBURY United have announced two new signings, while a veteran midfielder has left the club.

Puritans manager Mike Ford has confirmed that midfielder Ollie Stanbridge has departed the club after many years with Banbury.

Stanbridge has played over 500 games for the Southern League Premier Division side, making his 500th appearance for the club during last season, a milestone that was recognised by the club at the end of season awards.

Ford said: "The club would like to thank Ollie for his contributions, efforts and outstanding commitment in his time at Banbury United since first joining the club back in 2002.

"For his part Ollie would like to express his thanks to everyone at Banbury United for the great times he has had at the club and wishes every success to the club moving forward."

The rest of the squad have committed themselves to the club for next season.

And midfielders Declan Benjamin, 25, and Jack Shelf, 21, have been added to the squad from Oxford City and Didcot Town respectively.

Benjamin is returning to Banbury, having spent two seasons at The Banbury Plant Hire Community Stadium prior to his five year stint at Oxford City.

Meanwhile, coach Mike Byrne has left the club after his recent appointment as new FA County Coach Developer for Wiltshire.

Experienced manager and coach Andy Sinnott, who helped Ford out towards the end of last season, has agreed be assistant manager for the coming season.

Former Banbury United player Anton Sambrook has also been added to the coaching staff.

Oxfordshire CC fall to Shrophire as rain disrupts play

OXFORDSHIRE County Cricket suffered a 56-run defeat to Shropshire in a rain-affected match.

They are still seeking their first win of the season after losing to Cornwall last week, as Shropshire took their second successive victory.

Shropshire's batsmen posted a first innings of 264 all out.

Oxfordshire then managed 43 runs from three before heavy rain interrupted play, and led to no further play the following day.

Hugo Darby and Robert Kaufman then resumed batting on Tuesday to take Oxfordshire to 80-3, before they declared, to trail 184 at the end of the first innings.

As the second innings began, Oxforshire made the error of not calling upon their frontline bowlers as Henry Blofield and Luke Tinsley took advantage to hit 115 from just 60 balls, scoring 15 fours between them.

Shropshire's declaration then left the home side trailing by 300 runs going into their second innings.

Oxfordshire got off to an awful start when Darby was dismissed for lbw for just two runs, followed two balls later by Lloyd Sabin, who was likewise dismissed for a golden duck from bowler Alex Wyatt.

Michael Beard (66) and Kaufman (62) clawed back some respectability for Oxfordshire's scorecard before Wyatt claimed two further wickets.

Lloyd Brock was then also run out for no runs as Captain Luke Ryan and Joe Thomas tried to save the match with a partnership of 57, but Oxfordshire's hopes ended soon after the captain was bowled out, with William Rooney being dismissed off the first ball.

Didcot left frustrated by Great Brickhill

SOME incredible performances with the bat were not enough for Didcot Cricket Club to take victory in their match with Great Brickhill on Saturday.

The Oxfordshire side smashed 290-8 off of their 53 overs, leaving Great Brickhill with a herculean task to try and match their total.

And although they could only reach 145-7 in response, it was enough to frustrate Didcot into having to settle for a draw.

Didcot batted first and the damage was done early through the opening partnership of Ian Demain and Simon Pritchard.

By Adam Flinn

The pair reached 118 before Pritchard was finally caught for 67, with Elliot Matthews (22) getting his side to 153-2 when he was bowled.

The two quick wickets of Aiden Kammel (4) and Karl Johnston (4) followed, before Thamindu Wedatilake was caught for 37.

Demain was then finally caught as he neared his century, eventually falling for 85 after facing 124 balls.

Robert Keat (31) and Ross Fryatt (16) added to the score, leaving Sean Winton (1, not out) and Daniel Hall (0, not out) at the crease as the overs ran out.

Great Brickhill, chasing Didcot's 290 total, made a pedestrian start as Christopher Jones was bowled by Kammel after contributing just two runs from 34 balls.

Fellow opener Patrick Sreenivasaprasad was the next to go for 38, while Adam Boad would be Great Brickhill's star batsman as he added 61 to the total.

The following four had a limited impact, with Greg MacDonald (0), Arjun Jhala (2), Jilesh Pattni (2) and Hamid Miah (5) only facing 22 balls between them.

This left Jack Woodhouse and Lee Morgan at the crease for Great Brickhill, as Didcot closed in on victory.

But the pairing withstood an incredible 95 balls between them, and lasted until the end of their 47 over stint to leave Great Brickhill on 145-7.

The result keeps Didcot third in the Cherwell Cricket League division three standings with 116 points, and have now drawn level with Great Brickhill in second.

Their next game is away to Banbury 3rds on Saturday.
